In spite of all, my friend, we hope, if we shall be faithful to ourselves and to our God, to defeat his perfidious plans, and, by the help of Providence, to inflict upon him the punishment he merits, No. XXX. Miss Lydia Macdonalp to her Sister. 12th August, Every person here assumes a brave and warlike attitude. God bless our armies, and make our success equal to the desire we feel of extirpating from the face of the earth a monster so greedy of human blood. You can easily imagine in what way we already experience the sad effects of war: No day passes without witnessing the ruin of the most opulent commercial houses; judge then of the situation of those possessing less brilliant resources. (9) (9) These invectives originate in the ignorance of the English people with respect to the secret intrigues...
