I m sure I never wished them ill, Nor do I for all this, nor will. But if my simple prayers may yet Prevail with heaven to forget Thy murder, I will join my tears Rather than fail. But O my fears i It cannot die so. Heaven s King Keeps register of everything, And nothing may we use in vain; Even beasts must be with justice slain, Else men are made their deodands. Though they should wash their guilty hands In this warm life-blood which doth part From thine, and wound me to the heart, Yet could they not be clean, their stain Is dyed in such a purple grain. There is not such another in The world, to offer for their sin. Inconstant Sylvio, when yet I had not found him counterfeit, One morning (I remember well),...
